ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Migration continues to reshape societies across Europe and beyond, creating complex social, institutional, and professional challenges. Social workers play a key role in supporting migrant communities through rights-based, inclusive, and innovative approaches.

This international student conference aims to bring together students from partner institutions to present and discuss their perspectives, research ideas, and practical insights related to social work and migration. With the guidance of academic mentors, students will explore current challenges, resilience mechanisms, and emerging practices in supporting migrant communities.

The conference also contributes to the broader goals of the Edu4Migration project by encouraging student engagement, strengthening academic dialogue, and supporting the development of competencies in the field of social work and migration.
